From The Pastor's Desk

Readings: This first reading comes from Third Isaiah. In the book of Isaiah there are three distinct traditions which have different styles and a different message and are not from the same individual. In this tradition he wishes to express joy and hope. He has had enough of gloom and sorrow. He uses the peaceful image of a mother nursing a child. Suck fully and abundant breast are the translations here. I am not sure that they convey the meaning perfectly. All will have their fill and the breasts are abundant in nourishment. They will not run out of nourishment. These feminine images of God's and Jerusalem's care for his people are comforting. It is important to remember that God has only good attributes. The response continues the cheer for God. "Shout joyfully" is not unusual when we are full of joy and excitement. Paul continues his battle with the Judaizers, Christians who thought that the Law (Pentateuch) was essential for salvation. They were boasting in their circumcision but Paul would only boast in the cross of Christ. He had suffered much for Christ and he had the scars to prove it. He wanted to hear nothing about his lack of loyalty (let no man trouble me). In the Gospel we have the sending out of the 72 (some manuscripts support 70). They were in pairs for companionship and to give witness. Two were required to give witness. The message is urgent and their focus is to preach the message. On their return they were jubilant and surprised at the power of the message. Christ tells us that our joy should be that our "names are inscribed in heaven."
